

Firsthand Technology Value Fund Announces Distribution of $2.998210 Per Share

San Jose, CA, October 20, 2014 – Firsthand Technology Value Fund, Inc. (NASDAQ: SVVC) (the “Fund”), a publicly-traded venture capital fund that invests in technology and cleantech companies, announced today a special cash distribution to stockholders of $2.998210 per share. The distribution will be payable on November 6, 2014 to stockholders of record as of October 31, 2014.

The entire amount of this distribution represents long-term capital gains from a successful investment in Facebook (NASDAQ: FB). This is the second distribution to stockholders in the past 12 months.

Firsthand Technology Value Fund acquired its shares in Facebook before the social networking company’s 2012 IPO. The Fund realized an overall gain of 144% on its initial investment with the liquidation of its position in September.

“Facebook has been a highly profitable investment for our shareholders, and we continue to believe that the strongest opportunities for our investors are in the private markets,” noted Kevin Landis, Firsthand’s CEO. “We remain focused on identifying future tech blue chips in the pre-IPO stage.”

The Fund maintains a dividend reinvestment plan (“DRIP”) that provides for the reinvestment of all distributions on behalf of its stockholders, unless a stockholder has elected to receive distributions in cash. As a result, when the Fund declares a distribution, stockholders who have not previously “opted out” of the DRIP by the record date of the distribution will have their distribution automatically invested into additional shares of SVVC common stock. Although the Fund has a number of options to satisfy the share requirements of the DRIP, it currently expects that the DRIP plan administrator will acquire the shares through open market purchases of common stock.
